STAFF SURVEY - PART TWO

Please answer all questions to the best of your abilities. Some of the following questions could relate to services that may not be offered at your agency, in which case N/A is provided as a response option.

INDIVIDUALS WITH COMPLEX NEEDS

In the next section, you will be asked questions regarding providing services to individuals with complex needs. The term “individuals with complex needs” is intended to include those individuals whose needs exceed those that a single service provider can address (e.g., individuals with FASD).

Given that many individuals with complex disabilities may present with high needs in the absence of a diagnosis, the term “individuals with complex needs” is intended to capture populations based on their functional needs as opposed to specific diagnostic categories.
